

Topic 7, Lesson 1

How are we different?
How are we the same?

Note:

Topic 7, Lesson 2

What is a gender norm?

What messages are given in various types of literature?

Note:

Topic 7, Lesson 2

Note: See Lesson 2

RESILIENCE
RIGHTS &
RESPECTFUL
RELATIONSHIPS

Topic 7, Lesson 2

KINDNESS

TRUST

Note:

RESILIENCE RIGHTS &
RESPECTFUL
RELATIONSHIPS

Education and Training

Topic 7, Lesson 3

What messages are given in various types of children's media?

Note:

Topic 7, Lesson 3

We use the word sex to talk about the different bodies that people are born with. Some of us get born with female body parts and others with male body parts.

So these differences are to do with our bodies.

Source of definition from Resilience, Rights and Respectful Relationship P.70 -

Topic 7, Lesson 3

As we noticed when we were the story detectives, there are also some differences in ideas about how boys and girls or men and women should behave like how they should dress, or what they should like doing.

These differences do not come from their body parts. They are more like differences in fashion because they can change over time, and they can change from one place in the world to another.

The word for these differences is gender. We learn gender by copying others. The word gender helps us to talk about the ideas we have about the pressure on men and women and girls and boys to behave in certain ways.

Source of definition from Resilience, Rights and Respectful Relationship P.70 -

Topic 7, Lesson 3

Note: See Lesson
3, Page 70

Topic 7, Lesson 3

Note: See Lesson 3, Page 70 - It's ok for girls to enjoy dolls and it's ok for boys to enjoy cars. Everyone can enjoy both forms of toys.

